

curiosity is the key to creativity

Curiosity is one of the purest things we possess as humans.

Children explore and interrogate their world through interest, and adults discover their passion, direction, and even purpose by remaining curious.

By being curious about the other person's interests and experiences, one can learn more about them and potentially develop a deeper understanding and appreciation of their unique perspective.

Curiosity invites creative thinking

Curiosity helps in learning

Curiosity builds deeper connections

By deeply understanding these unique perspectives of people and joining hands with them, whom we call our dear clients, we become curious to know their lifestyle, their tastes, their habits, and their aspirations. And that's how we design their dream spaces.

"There is a GOOD DESIGN.
There is a BAD DESIGN.
But there is nothing like NO DESIGN".

Design is like a god; it's omnipresent.
And "God lies in details," as stated by renowned architect Ludwig Mies Van De Rohe.

"FUNCTIONALITY OVER BEAUTIFICATION" is our motto.

A good design is an amalgamation of conscious efforts to fulfil every functional aspect over the aesthetic facet.

CURIOSITY IS THE KEY, "it is not the answer that enlightens, but the question." – Why Design?

Design enables us to create a solution that meets the needs and preferences of the users.

The best part of my work is i get an opportunity to have an insights of people's lifestyle and style of businesses in different disciplines and eventually the clients turn into friends and family.

EQUINOX / - noun

When day and night are equally divided in equal length of time. This occurrence is due to sun crossing the celestial equator and it happens twice in a year. During equinox, earth gets light for few more minutes than darkness which is because the sunrise happens when tip of the sun edges over the horizon. And because the sun is a disk rather than a point source of light, Earth sees just a few more minutes of extra light, rather than darkness during an EQUINOX.

Shedding an extra ray of light to the ideas, to the concepts, to the client's aspiration and hence ascending the lifestyle, with such philosophy and belief the name EQUINOX was derived.
